25th Anniversary Silver Edition

Dedication

This year we are proud to dedicate the Golden Torch to someone special. She has not been recognized enough for her hard work, cheerful personality, and more than twenty years of dedication at Peabody High School.

She was Martha Maness of Greenfield before she married Perry Day Crim. She has two daughters, Emily and Kathy, and two granddaughters.

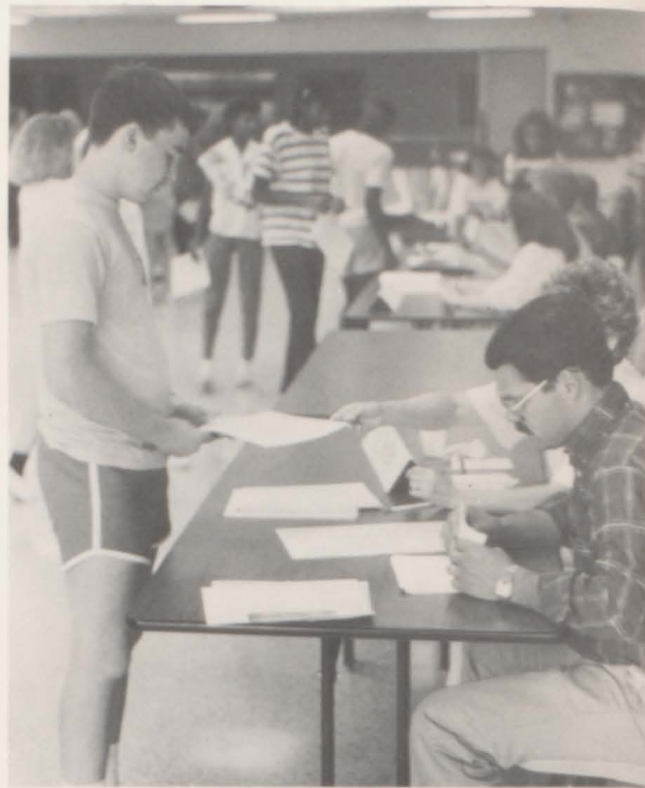

The Golden Torch Staff takes pride in dedicating this yearbook to Mrs. Martha Crim, who is devoted to serving our school.

The Year '88-89

89

Registration And First Day

Registration was Aug. 18 and the first day of classes was Aug. 19. The first day was full of excitement and anticipation. There were new locker numbers to memorize, new teachers and new faces. To many it was a scary experience, but it did not take long before everyone was back into the swing of things. The Student Council adopted their theme — "Tide Pride — Roll With It" — suggested by Steve Winwood's newest album. This day proved to be one that was "too good to be forgotten".

Administration And Staff

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE: How many things are really "too good to be forgotten"? Memories are yesterday's events which have been etched into our minds. Memories are made today and serve us in the future. I hope that each student experiences situations which will motivate him or her to become a compassionate, caring and worthwhile individual.

From the administration and staff, we want our students to know that they are, and always will be, "too good to be forgotten".

... A Game Not To Be Forgotten

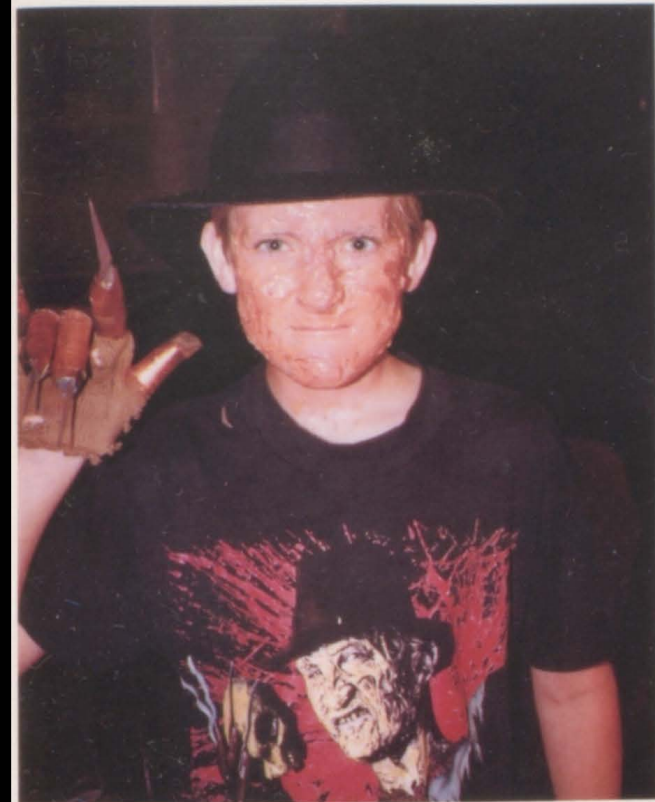

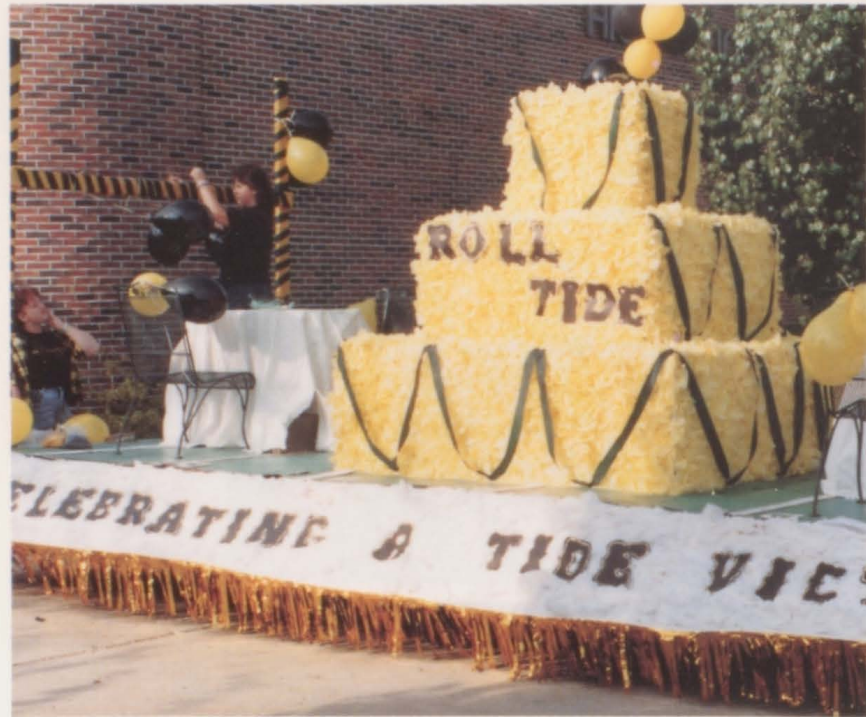

Don't forget HOMECOMING '88

Spirits were high at P.H.S. the week of Sept. 19-23. It was Homecoming, and the week was filled with class meetings, float construction, the bonfire and preparations. Each day students dressed differently. Monday was hat and sunglasses day; on Tuesday we dressed as a cartoon or movie character. Wednesday each class dressed to carry out their theme, and Thursday was "tacky" day.

Friday was the BIG DAY. Floats were placed in front of the school for judging. Everyone dressed in black and gold, and mums were delivered to school. The parade began at 1:30; it went down College St., around Court Square and ended at the field house.

The game against Lake Co. Falcons ended in defeat, 34-14. At halftime Homecoming Royalty was introduced, and Queen Elizabeth Bridges was crowned. The band performed and float winners were announced. Seniors placed first with their "Pooh Bear", the juniors' "Nightmare on Freed Field" was second, the freshmen's "Celebrating a Tide Victory" was third and the sophomores' "Falcon Shoot" was last. All the floats were more original than those of the past.

SENIORS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Amy Turner, treasurer; Doug Ferguson, secretary; Shannon Hawkins, president; Jason Cox, vice-president.

Seven years ago, when I joined what would become the P.H.S. Class of '89, I could not imagine what experiences the years would offer. Our class has cried and laughed, argued and forgiven, failed and succeeded, but most importantly, loved. Though at times we have strayed, we have united when we needed each other most.

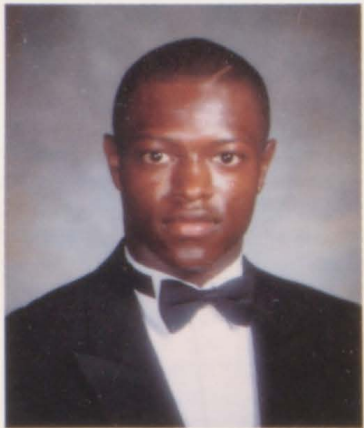

Our class members are individuals with diverse personalities and talents. We have all benefited from the knowledge and dedication of fine teachers, but the education we have received from each other will be remembered long after the algebra and physics have been forgotten.

The building blocks of our lives have been laid. We must add to that foundation.

The eighties are ending; our futures are beginning.

The class of '90 is a large class composed of students with great potential and many abilities. We have a lot of intelligent people in our class and several class clowns. Each person has their own individual way of contributing to the class.
 We are enthusiastic, hard working and have our own style. We have a special unity, class pride and school spirit that helps us serve the
 "Peabody" name well.
 We are "ripples on the

What makes the sophomore class unforgettable is the unity we have when something has to be done. In every event of the year, we participated. What we did might not always be the greatest, but we worked hard and did our best. That is what made our class remarkable.

This year is a new experience. We are newcomers at this beautiful school and the smallest class, but we are spirited and have high hopes and dreams: dreams to be accepted into good colleges, dreams to get good jobs after college, dreams to have families that will continue to have hopes and dreams of their own.

Great leaders at Peabody start as freshmen and continue on through four years. We hope to be remembered as the class that worked together as a whole, not just as individuals.

ANNUAL STAFF

We've come far in the past year. When we first congregated we knew each other, some better than others. As we worked our way through the layouts, the deadlines and the arguments, we've become a close knit family. We've put hard work and effort into producing this annual, and, each of us has come out with a sense of control and leadership. We owe a lot to Mrs. Jetton for support and effort. We have enjoyed publishing this yearbook and hope the tradition continues.

OFFICERS: Stacey Barton, vice-president; Camille Moore, secretary; Doug Ferguson, president; Kim Johnson, reporter; Lynn Walker, treasurer.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America are a student organization for those enrolled in the Vocational Marketing Program. There are 23 members in Peabody's DECA chapter this year. DECA members will be competing in Regional Competition, February 13; State Conference, March 9-10, and National Career Development Conference, April 26-30. Through these local, state, and national meetings, DECA members learn to serve as leaders and followers. Other projects for the year include Santa-Grams, Employer-Employee Banquet, and a special Christmas Community Project.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

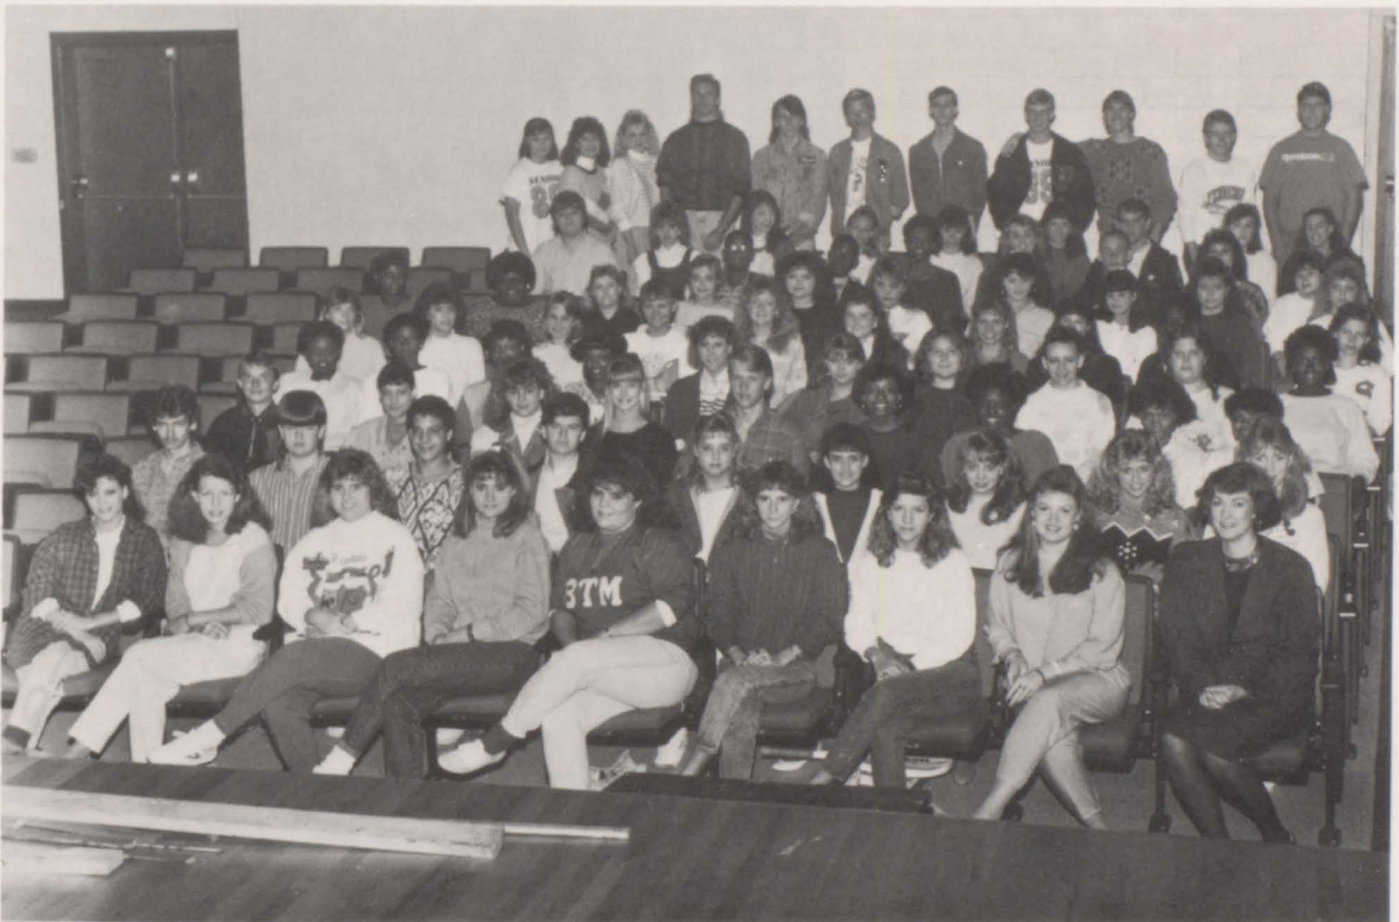

November 8-12, 1988 the National F.F.A. Convention was held in Kansas City, Missouri. Eight Peabody students attended. They were Beverly Stoots, Aimee Glisson, Terry Campbell, Pete Ball, Steve Hendrix, Allen Garner, Chris Hill and Bruce Davis, a P.H.S. graduate now in college. It was a great time!

Our soil judging team and our dairy judging team have been in training and we expect them to do well in contests.

OFFICERS: Penny Thompson, secretary; Beverly Stoots, parliamentarian; Lisa Edmonds, historian; Holly Richardson, treasurer; Bridget Harper, reporter; Kim Harrell, vice-president; Ritchie Hampton, president.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

For the past 12 years Peabody students enrolled in business courses could join the Office Education Association. This year students have placed membership in Future Business Leaders of America.

Early in the year a cook-out was held at Mrs. Reasons' house for all prospective members to promote the new club. Ninety joined and began work with a "bang".

The first business was a fund-raiser, and the Tom-Wat sales broke a record. The three top salespersons, Tracy Davis, Sarah Bickford and Felicia Summers, won cash prizes. These funds were used to pay expenses to the State Conference in April.

STUDENT COUNCIL

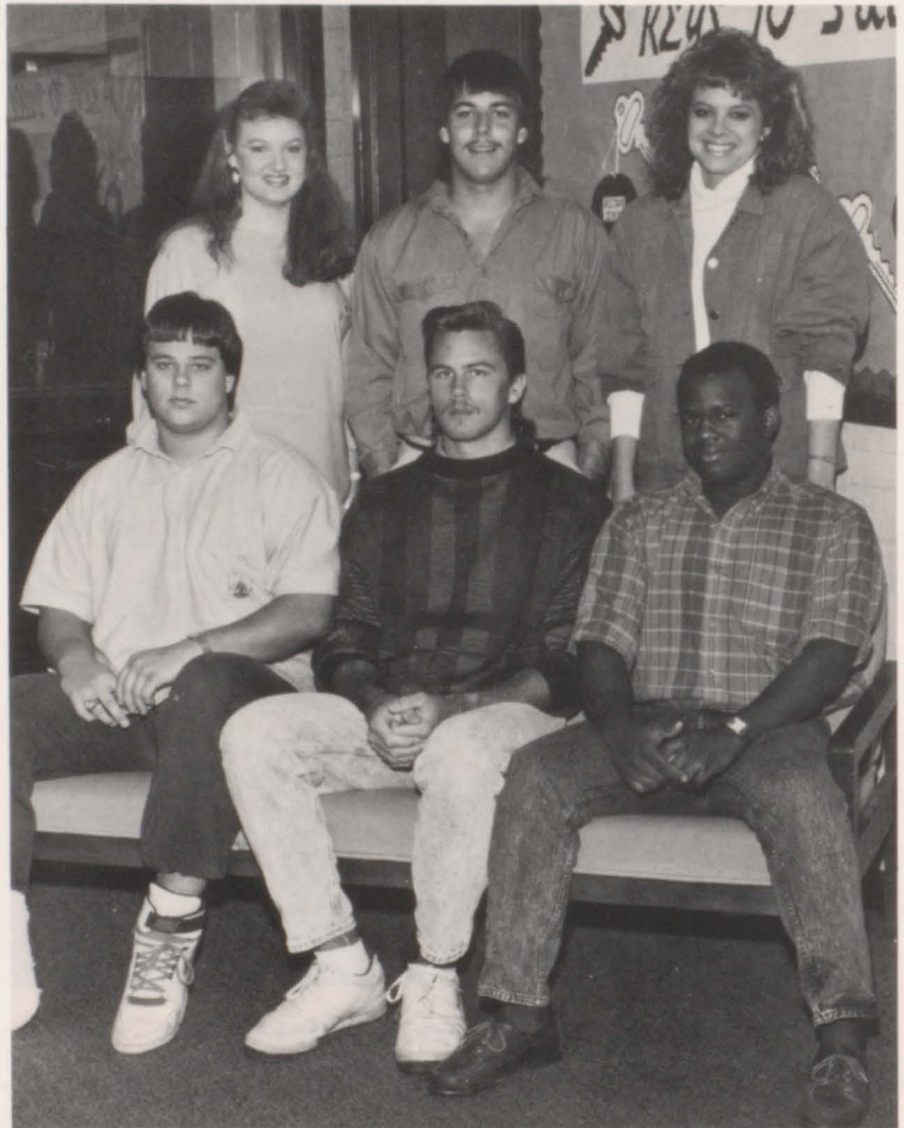

OFFICERS: Bridget Harper, vice-president; Ms. Glenda Houston, adviser; Jason Cox, president; Mark King, treasurer; Amanda Blankenship, secretary.

The Student Council, Peabody's branch of student government, represents the voice and opinions of the student body. Annual projects are organizing Homecoming activities, helping with Parent/Teacher Conferences, school tours for incoming freshmen and service projects, such as raising funds for different charities.

Each class is represented by five members. These are elected by the classes they represent. The president and vice-president are elected by the entire student body in the spring.

Mrs. Glenda Houston is the adviser.

SENIORS: Bridget Harper, Charlie Williams, Shannon Hawkins, Jason Cox, Mark King, Wesley Johnson.

JUNIORS: Jenny Blasen, Holly Richardson, Andy Thompson, Eric Milan, Chas Weems.

SOPHOMORES: Steve Nunley, Torri Bechtel, Sandi Redmond, Allen Garner, Meg Hartfield.

FRESHMEN: Janet Graves, Ginger Pipkin, Lori Dollar, Amanda Blankenship.

The Golden Torch did a survey. The question was —

"Why Is The '88-89 School Year One You Won't Forget?"

ANDY THOMPSON: This year is too good to be forgotten because

1. We get to hear Christmas carols at lunch,
2. We have a self-serve lunch line,
3. We are now juniors and demand respect,
4. I can joke around everywhere except Mrs. Gibson's room,
5. We graduate next year, and
6. The temperature seems hotter this year — which means more skin — enough said.

ABBY FERGUSON: The reason this year will not be forgotten is because it is such a change for us freshmen. We received more freedom, but we were also given more responsibility. Being at Peabody makes us feel more included in life; Homecoming, bon fires, pep rallies, ball games and contests.

CARLA LITTON: Because many good things went on this year: Homecoming was fun, and we had more dances than usual. This school year has gone by too fast, though, and next year we will all be seniors. That doesn't seem like reality.

STACEY BARTON: The one thing about this year that I will not forget is how the color guard improved. In the four years that I have been in the band, this has been the best. All the hard work and dedication payed off when we went to contests and brought home first place trophies. I'm glad that I was a part of a winning team.

SHEILA MANESS: I will always remember this year because ever since I started working, I have had to get up at 4:00 a.m. to get to work at 5:00 on Saturday mornings. On Sundays I have to get up at 6:00 a.m. to get to work at 7:00. For this reason I dread week-ends!

JESSICA PHILLIPS: One of the times that I know will stick in my mind was December 15, when Mr. Culp fell out of his chair. He was embarrassed and probably in a little pain, although he knew he had to laugh about it. Another thing I will always remember is my friends being there for each other; caring, laughing and crying together.

TIM TOLE: This is the best and most unforgettable year, because it is my last year of high school. Another reason I won't forget this year is that I was expelled from school for six weeks. Johnny and I went to the alternative school together. I have learned one thing — not to bring any alcohol to the school campus for any reason, or you will pay the price!

MELINDA CARTER: I will never forget the time we had a basketball game, and Tracy Lawrence was shooting two foul shots, and she threw up a brick. It hit the backboard and bounced off. Then when she was shooting the second shot, Ms. Doaks told her to use the rim. This time it went in.

CHRIS HARTFIELD: I really enjoyed playing freshmen basketball. You not only get better at the sport, but you get to know your teammates better. I have enjoyed being freshmen class president, too. During Homecoming being class president was fun, but there was a little pressure, also, such as getting the committees, getting the money to pay for the float and getting students to work on it. Everything went smooth, except that our float wasn't pulled in the parade, because the trailer hitch on the float wouldn't fit the one on the truck.

LYNN WALKER: I've had great times this year in the band, being part of an award winning color guard. I also had fun at Homecoming. Cory Arnold was a terrific date. We danced and danced, fast and slow. After the dance it was raining, and we got stuck in the mud. It took us a long time to get out, and we were both soaked from head to toe!

RONALD GENTRY: Because this is my last year in basketball. We have a 13-4 record so far, the best start for a Peabody team since 1972, and the goal I set I am fulfilling — to be the top scorer in West Tennessee. But what makes me remember this season the most is the two slam dunks that Robert B. missed in a game — once wasn't enough for him!

JOSEPH JARRETT: This year has surprised me, because no matter how long you live you will never see THIS YEAR AGAIN. The Lord gives, and he takes away. There have been many surprising moments this year. I've been drawing and doing better things in art. I'm not the best, but I'm trying. I'm very happy to be alive today!

CRAIG WARD: My most memorable moments were when I became a class officer, and when I was asked to be on the Trenton Drug Alliance Committee. It was a privilege!

BEVERLY STOOTS: The trip I made to the 61st National F.F.A. Convention in Kansas City made this year unforgettable! We left on Tuesday, Nov. 8. The first stop was in St. Louis, where we went up the arch and observed the breathtaking view. In Kansas City almost 23,000 members met in the H. Roe Bartle Hall of the Municipal Arena. Entertainment included two 1988 Olympic gymnasts performing and speaking about achieving goals, and Jerry Clower, who spoke of his pride in F.F.A. — and gave us a laugh.

BRIAN PIPKIN: I made the Academic Decathlon team, and because it went by so quickly!!

 A MESSAGE FROM YOUR TRENTON
 VICTORY ASSOCIATION

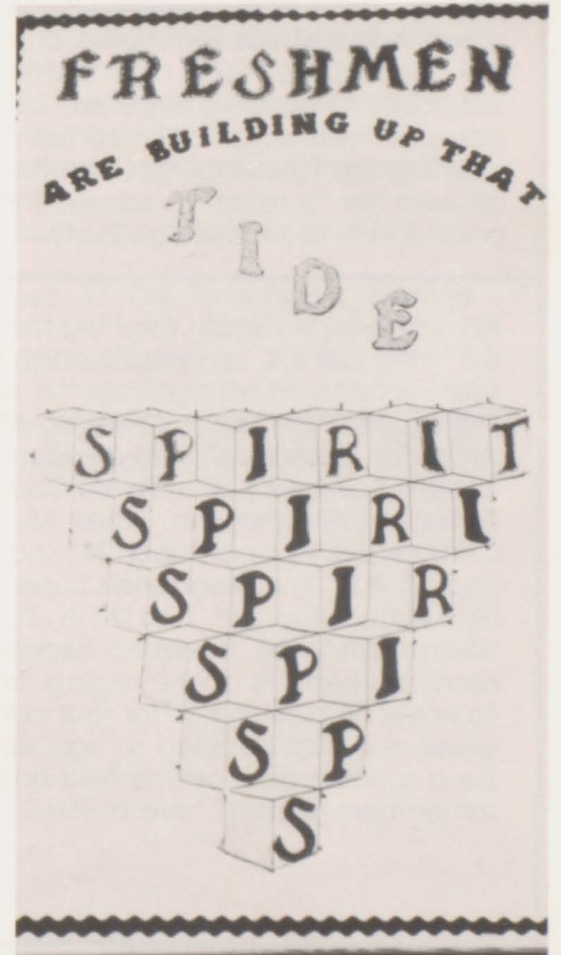

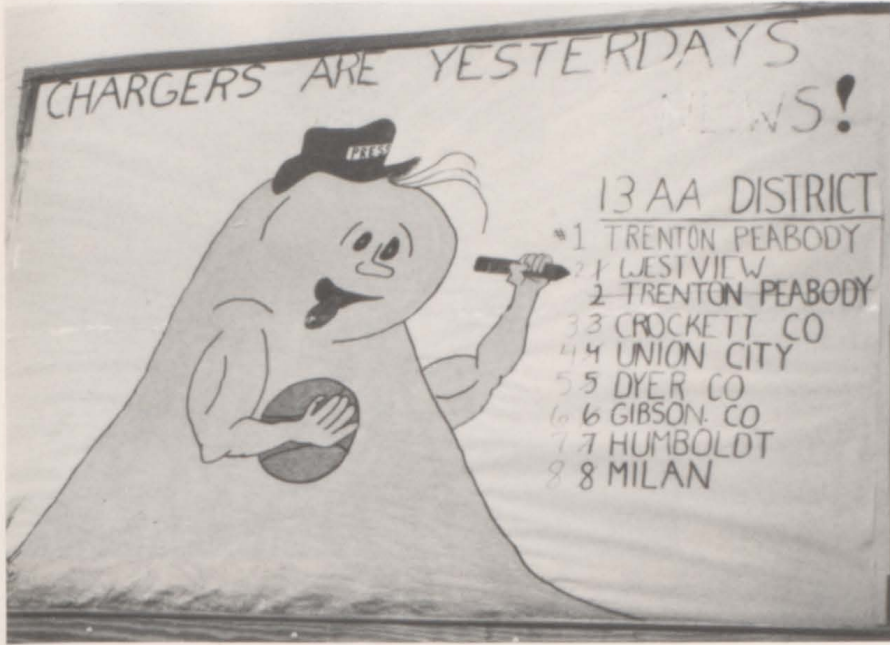

Spirit Week of the basketball season was Jan. 23-27, with Friday's competitive pep rally being the highlight. The Seniors won and received free admission to the game against Martin Westview that night. Banner winners were:

- 1st place — Seniors
- 2nd place — Juniors
- 3rd place — Freshmen
- 4th place — Sophomores

The juniors collected the most money during the week and Mrs. Jetton good-naturedly accepted their reward. To top off the excitement, both the Tide and Tidettes defeated the Chargers in an unforgettable game.

... Not To Forget

Students In The News

In 1986 Lee Espey was named "Rookie of the Year" when he began competing in steer wrestling, bareback bronc riding, calf roping, team roping and cutting. In June 1988 he was named Tennessee All-Around Cowboy for the second year. To win this recognition he placed first in steer wrestling, cutting and bronc riding, and in the top four of each category. He went to Pueblo, Colorado in 1987 and 1988 as a member of the Tennessee High School Rodeo National Finals Team. Lee currently ranks 12th in the nation in steer wrestling.

The four saddles Lee won came in handy since he has outfitted three different horses trained for different events.

After college rodeo experience, Lee hopes to have a career training horses.

Lee Espey

Thursday, Oct. 27, 1988, Peabody students got a lesson in protecting the rights of innocent people.

Deputies from the sheriffs department arrived at school about 9 A.M. with two drug-sniffing dogs after making the rounds of other Gibson Co. schools the two previous days. A small amount of marijuana was found in Tracy Gibson's locker and car. By school policy she was immediately suspended, in spite of the fact that she is a cheerleader, A-student, field-commander of the band, tennis team member and member of Trenton Drug Alliance. Her friends, convinced she was framed, were upset that she was sent home and could not march with the band at the Friday night game and contest on Saturday. At her own expense, Tracy took drug and lie detector tests which affirmed her innocence. At a called meeting the following Tuesday, the school board allowed her to return to school. The best intentioned policies can sometimes go awry.

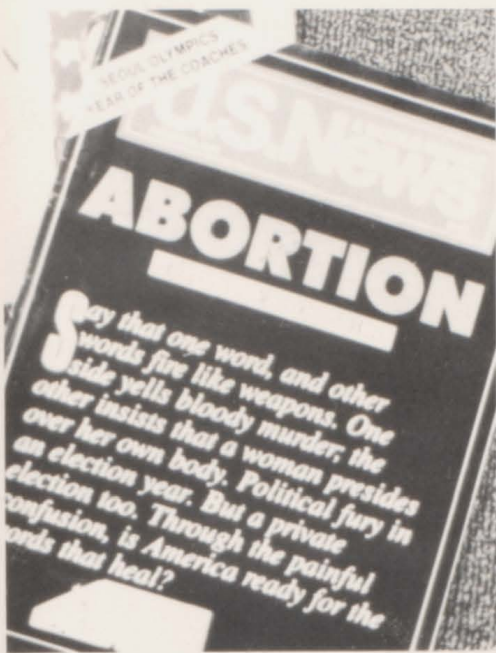

Tracy Gibson

Kim Lawhorn is literally the "big man on campus". At 6'5" and 240 lbs. number 76 on the Golden Tide football team was given recognitions this season, such as All-District, All-West Tenn., All-State, All-South and All-American Defensive Lineman, Honorable Mention. He was listed in Emfinger's Elite Eleven Defensive Tackles, Emfinger's All-American, Timex All-American, The Commercial Appeal Super 24, Knoxville News Sentinel Top 25 #3, Time Magazine's Super 16 #3, Who's Who in High School Football, and U.S.A. Today Prep Tennessee All-Star. After this, it was no surprise that college recruiters kept his phone ringing, and reporters wanted to know his decision. After four campus visits and a quiet week-end, Kim decided to sign with U.C.L.A. He should be a success both on the field and in the classroom if he remembers his roots here at P.H.S.

End Of The Eighties

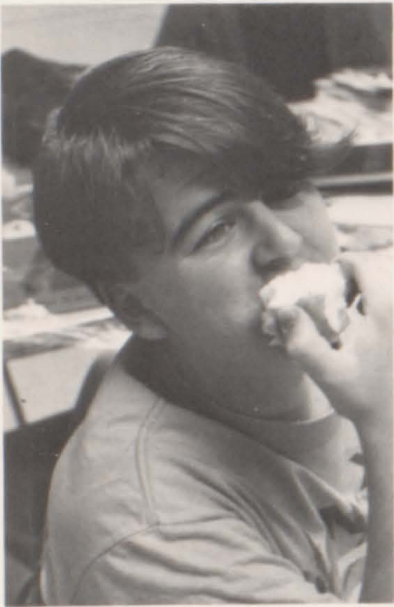

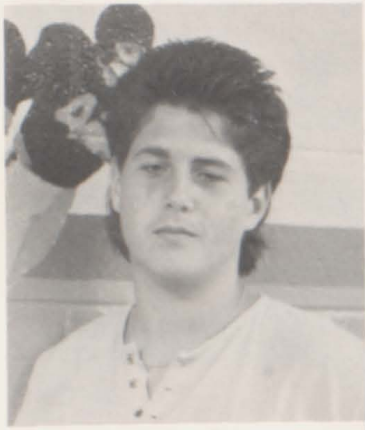

THE 80s WERE THE AGE OF —

- Microcomputers, which took over business, educational and even personal recordkeeping
- YUPPIES (young, urban professionals) with their own dress, language and diseases
- DINKS (double income, no kids) childless couples with a care-free life-style
- DEWKS (dual employed, with kids) more numerous and more tired than DINKS
- AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) which brought out fears and prejudices in otherwise nice people
- decreasing permissiveness in all areas of life
- tightening of college admissions requirements for all students, including athletes
- attempts at education reform
- a bull market on Wall Street and big company buy-outs
- Gorbachev came to power in the U.S.S.R.
- costs of health care technology outstripped people's ability to pay for it
- videotaping everything!
- the drug epidemic
- increasing concern about our environment, our over-abundance of garbage and lack of space to put it

THE END OF THE 80s ALSO BROUGHT AN END TO —

- The Reagan Era
The Bill Cosby Show
and these famous people:
- Roy Orbison, rock and roll singer and composer, Dec. 6 at age 52
 - Emperor Hirohito of Japan died after a reign of 62 years
 - Billy Carter, colorful brother of the former president, died of cancer at age 51
 - Louis L'Amour, 80, author of 101 books of western adventure
 - Andy Gibb, 30, teen-idol pop singer, died in England
 - Heather O'Rourke, 12 year old actress of the Poltergeist films
 - Alan Paton, South African author and foe of apartheid
 - Christina Onassis, 37, heir to a Greek shipping fortune
 - Salvador Dali, Spanish surrealist painter, died Jan. 23 at 84
 - Ted Bundy, serial killer of more than 20 young women, was executed in Florida Jan. 24
